

Species of the Allegheny Front

SEE IF YOU CAN SPOT THE FOLLOWING SPECIES.

Christmas Fern

Oak

Cardinal Flower

Virginia Bluebell

Wild Turkey

Northern Flying Squirrel

Eastern Hellbender

Reishi Mushroom

Bobcat

Mountain Laurel

Dragonfly

Pileated Woodpecker

Merlin Falcon

Brook Trout

Chicken of the Woods

Eastern Hemlock

White Tailed Deer

The Allegheny Front is a small but critical section of the Appalachian range—an ancient chain of mountains, forests, valleys and rivers that stretches approximately 2,000 miles from Alabama to Canada. This is one of the most resilient, diverse and productive ecosystems on Planet Earth. This poster depicts some of the iconic plants, mammals, birds, trees, amphibians, insects and fish that call the Allegheny Front home.

To see a more comprehensive list and to learn about how The Nature Conservancy conserves this special place, visit Nature.org/AlleghenyFrontSpecies.

